

```
77
78 <!-- HTML_TAG_START -->If you open your wallet right now, who do you see 79 there? You're probably looking at people who made history in your country. Without even noticing, you're always carrying around reminders of prominent people in your wallet, but have you ever wondered, who gets to be on banknotes?<!-- HTML_TAG_END --><!-- HTML_TAG_START -->In many places, paper money still fails to represent a portion of the population it serves, with many countries preferring to showcase people (usually men) in positions of power or of national acclaim on their banknotes. However, money can also be a platform to uplift the unsung leaders who deserve our gratitude for making our countries what they are. We decided to investigate this imbalance. We gathered data about the people who appear on banknotes around the world, to see what we could learn about them and their countries.<!-- HTML_TAG_END --><!-- HTML_TAG_START -->We wanted this analysis to be as international as possible so we inquired into 38 countries from all 22 sub and sub-subregions of the world, based on the United Nations' Statistics Department geoscheme. Our dataset represents:<!-- HTML_TAG_END --> <h2 class="big-number svelte-1v0yhdg">236</h2>
80 unique banknotes
81
82 <h2 class="big-number svelte-1v0yhdg">241</h2>
83 unique individuals
84
85 <!-- HTML_TAG_START -->The majority of the individuals depicted on banknotes are male:<!-- HTML_TAG_END --> 86
87
88 Female - 51 (21%)
89
90

91 Male - 190 (79%)
92
93
94
95 <!-- HTML_TAG_START -->We looked at their professions and accomplishments, among other characteristics, to understand who is featured on the banknotes of the world, and what it took to get
```

What is HTML?

- HyperText Markup Language
- Created by Tim Berners-Lee in the early 1990s
- Started as text-only, now even animation & video
- A foundational unit/part of a Webpage
- Modern news sites use HTML, CSS and JavaScript to create the interactive you see!